

Cold War Vocabulary

Freedom-Dictatorship

Freedom is when the people can do what they want, like travelling, speaking, writing, without damage to other people;

Dictatorship is when the people don't have any kind of liberty, when the power is all in the dictator. People are controlled and can't say or write what they think because there's censorship.

Democracy-Communism

Democracy: People have the same rights in front of the law;

Communism: The state controls every aspect of the people's life especially the economic one.

Capitalism-Collectivism

CAPITALISM: when the capital is at the first place in the work context and the government allows the people to manage their money;

COLLECTIVISM: when the capital is managed and distributed for the people, by the government, and doesn't exist private properties.
